

You and members of your collaborative circle will prepare to present your case for why we should normalize a regularly denigrated deviant behavior. As alluded to in the previous sentence, the behavior that your circle selects cannot be one that is passively stigmatized but rather one that evokes a visceral response from society at large. A few sample deviant behavior options are as follows:

- Incest
- Cannibalism
- Legalization of “hard drugs” (e.g. methamphetamines, ketamine, etc.)
- Legalization of vigilantism
- Normalization of fursonas and otherkin identities
- Normalization of selected paraphilias (e.g. necrophilia, pedophilia, etc.)

Importantly, no two circles can make a case on the same topic. Topics will be first come, first served. So, make sure to get your selections in early.

Each circle will be (mostly) randomly assigned in the interest of fairness and comprised of a combination of synchronous and asynchronous students. Synchronous students will present their case at a public forum and asynchronous students will present their case through a Reddit AMA (Ask Me Anything) post via the Ask Me Anything subreddit. In the presentation of your case, you will be expected to explain the behavior, societal perceptions of this behavior, its impact on society, and (most importantly) make a case for why we should normalize it. As a result, this assignment may well force you to confront and present ideas and thoughts that you are diametrically opposed to/have moral objections against (just like this class will have).

- In-person presentations are expected to last no less than 10 minutes but no more than 15 minutes, with time being left at the end for the audience to vote on which group presented the most convincing argument for normalization.
- Asynchronous presentations will be expected to be attended to across a 24-hour period. You will not need to be at your computer the entire time, but you will be expected to respond to Redditor comments regularly (albeit sporadically) throughout the period. You will also need to provide a poll at the end of your Reddit post for your respondents to vote in as to whether they found your case convincing or not.

While preparing for to make your case, make sure to review the material we’ve covered across the semester and then begin doing additional research as a circle. Each collaborative circle is expected to develop arguments that extend well beyond the materials provided to you in this class.
